The sessions will cover information about the SSP Middle School Program Contest Awards by a person who judged last years "Young Scientist Challenge" entries and students who entered the contest and became semi-finalists for last year's Discovery Awards. The way to handle the questions are similar. We hope this will answer the questions you have about the SSP Middle School Contest Awards and how to best fill out the on-line entry booklet. Enter and you may become one of the 300 semifinalists and 30 finalists to receive scholarships, trips and other awards during an all-expense paid week for the winners and a guardian in Washington DC at the Smithsonian. The entries are due by June 4th, 2008.
